NEWS RELEASE

Newmont Publishes 2025 Sustainability and Taxes & Royalties Contribution Reports

2026-04-30

Newmont Corporation today released its 2025 Sustainability Report and 2025 Taxes & Royalties Contribution Report, outlining the company's sustainability performance and socio-economic contributions over the past year.

2025 Sustainability Report Highlights:

- Launched Always Safe, Newmont's unified approach to health and safety, standardizing best practices, embedding risk management into daily decisions and reinforcing leadership accountability across the organization. While the company recorded zero fatalities in 2025, the tragic loss of Mathew Middlebrook at Tanami in February 2026 underscores its commitment to continuous safety improvement, including through programs like Always Safe.
- Achieved commercial production at Ahafo North in Ghana, a significant milestone for the country's mining sector. Construction activities generated approximately 4,500 jobs, with ongoing operations supporting around 1,560 roles.
- Spent $2.3 billion with local and indigenous suppliers, supporting employment, skills building and business development across Newmont's global portfolio.
- Strengthened tailings governance and risk management, completing self-assessments for more than 50 non-priority facilities while reinforcing oversight across tailings storage facilities.

Newmont's 2025 sustainability report was prepared in accordance with the GRI (formerly known as the Global Reporting Initiative) standards, including the Mining and Metals Sector Supplement, and with the Sustainability Accounting Standards Board (SASB) Metals & Mining Sustainability Accounting Standard. Select publicly reported material data was externally assured, reflecting Newmont's commitment to transparency and reporting obligations as a founding member of the International Council on Mining and Metals (ICMM) and as an early adopter of the UN Guiding Principles Reporting Framework.

2025 Taxes and Royalties Contribution Report Highlights:

- Newmont delivered $17.8 billion in direct economic contributions, including:
  - $5.8 billion in operating costs
  - $2.5 billion in employee wages and benefits
  - $2.5 billion in capital spending
  - $3.8 billion in payments to providers of capital
  - $3.2 billion in taxes, royalties and other payments to governments
  - $97 million invested in community projects and programs

Honoring Our History, Shaping Our Future

Together, these reports demonstrate Newmont's role as a responsible steward of the resources entrusted to its care and the relationships that sustain its long-term operations. With a foundation built on safety, operational excellence and financial discipline, the company is shaping its future while delivering sustainable benefits where it operates today.
