Full-time | Reports to the General Manager | Build and lead a small ICT team

The opportunity

PNGX is Papua New Guinea's national stock exchange and an important part of the country's financial infrastructure. We are seeking a practical and capable technology professional to lead our ICT function in a small, focused organisation. You will guide technology planning, maintain reliable and secure operations, coordinate service providers and remain hands-on when important issues arise.

What you will do

- Maintain a practical technology plan, budget and ICT policies aligned with PNGX's business and regulatory needs.
- Oversee day-to-day ICT operations and support for users, networks, Microsoft 365, business systems and exchange-related services.
- Manage proportionate cybersecurity, backups and business continuity, together with technology vendors, projects, upgrades and the small ICT team.

What we are looking for

- At least five years of relevant ICT experience, including responsibility for systems, vendors, projects or staff.
- A relevant degree or diploma, or an equivalent combination of qualifications and experience, with practical knowledge of business systems, networks, cloud services, cybersecurity, backups and continuity arrangements.
- Sound judgement, integrity and clear communication, with the ability to work calmly, explain technology to non-technical stakeholders and contribute across a small team.

Experience in a financial institution, regulated organisation or another business reliant on critical technology will be highly regarded. Relevant industry certifications are desirable.

Why join PNGX?

This is an opportunity to take ownership of a broad technology function, work with a committed team and contribute directly to market confidence and capital-market development in Papua New Guinea.
